~ Student from Class of 2022

"I chose to come to Russell Medical in order to have a small hospital experience where I would have one on one interaction with physicians and opportunities to get lots of hands-on experience. So far, my experience at RM has lived up to this and more. The small town feel of Russell Medical and Alexander City makes it feel like a big family. Russell Medical does so much to accommodate its student and make us feel comfortable and at home. Even though I am only at the start of my rotations my early experiences have made me hopeful of what more there is to come in my training and education over my time here."

STUDENT
TESTIMONIALS

"I am truly grateful that Cullman Regional has been my core site. Many students assume that a smaller hospital means fewer opportunities, but my experience has been quite the opposite. Because Cullman Regional does not have residency programs, I benefited from direct one-on-one teaching with attendings on every rotation and gained early hands-on experience in the OR. As someone applying to General Surgery, this kind of early operative exposure has been invaluable. At larger academic centers, these opportunities are often reserved for residents, making Cullman's structure a real advantage for medical students.

Every preceptor I worked with was approachable, invested in my learning and committed to providing meaningful teaching. Cullman Regional offers all core rotations except the residency program rotation, which students typically complete in Florence or at another affiliated site. Traveling for a rotation or two is common during both third and fourth year, so the absence of a residency program at Cullman is a small tradeoff-especially given the early clinical opportunities it provides

In addition, Cullman offers a wide variety of electives, including Orthopedic Surgery, Ophthalmology, Plastic Surgery, Anesthesiology, Radiology, Cardiology, Pulmonology and Neurology. By the end of my core year, I felt well-prepared for both my Sub-I rotations and my board exams. Beyond academics, Cullman also provided the charm of a small-town setting and a patient population that was a joy to care for.

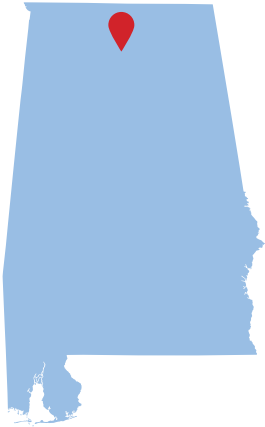

~ Phillip Ross Cochran, OMS-IV

Additionally, it is the first and only hospital in the county to offer Trans-Aortic Valve Replacement (TAVR). In addition to being known for its state-of-the-art birth center, Thomas Hospital has a pediatric inpatient unit staffed by highly qualified pediatric hospitalists. Students love the fact that the preceptors and other healthcare staff are so welcoming. During their rotations, the students will interact with all of the staff and get to work with other physicians during their rotations, so they are getting to do and see more. The students participate in Journal Club once a week and present articles to their peers. In doing this, they are gaining confidence and getting valuable feedback that will be beneficial to them in the coming years. Thomas Hospital is also home to the Thomas Hospital Internal Medicine Residency Program and the Geriatric Fellowship Program. While on rotation at Thomas Hospital, our students are encouraged to sit in on weekly didactic sessions presented by the residents, the resident core faculty and the resident attendings.

STUDENT
TESTIMONIALS

"Helen Keller Hospital and the Sheffield core site has exceeded all my expectations as a medical student. Every time I enter the hospital or start a new rotation, I feel like people want me there and want me to learn. I feel like I am an active member of the hospital family when I am there. You are always 1 on 1 with your preceptor and the physicians at this site not only care about your medical education but about you as an individual. They are willing to teach you and challenge you but they also treat you like a colleague. I can't think of a better site to further your medical education, become more confident in your medical skills and decision making, and to be an active member of the health care team than at Helen Keller Hospital and the Sheffield core site."

~ Joel Carter c/o 2024

WHY SHEFFIELD?

The four adjacent towns of Florence, Sheffield, Muscle Shoals and Tuscumbia are on the banks of the Tennessee River and make up what we call "The Shoals". Because these towns are so intertwined, the residents here enjoy a quality of life and a variety of activities usually only found in much larger metropolitan areas. The area offers much with the changing of the seasons, from outdoor activities such as camping and water sports to museums and educational programs.
